1. Claims 2-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 2, line 3, "the first lens material" should be changed to --a first lens material--; the same for the recitation of the second lens material at line 8. Claim 9, last line, does applicant mean a second lens material or the same lens material which was used to make the lens body? This requires clarification.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 2-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Doshi.

The applied reference (see Fig. 5) discloses the basic claimed process of forming a colored contact lens by cutting out portions of a formed contact lens (2A), forming an iris-colored part on the cut portion (3A or 3B) and forming a lens cover by providing a second material over the top surface of the lens (5B) and polymerizing the second material/monomer. Essentially, the applied reference fails to explicitly disclose that the initial contact lens body shown in step 1 and cut in step 2A is in fact molded between an upper mold and lower mold and that the molds are pressed together to make the body. Note Figure 6 in Doshi which shows the formation of the iris-colored lens by cast molding between upper and lower mold parts. It is nothing but conventional in this art to make contact lenses and performs by molding between mold parts and such would have been an obvious method to make the lens body shown in Figure 5 of the applied reference. The instant mold materials are well known and would have been obvious material selections to make the molds. Cutting off an upper surface of the lens cover would have been an obvious feature in grinding or finishing the contact lens to the desired shape. The iris pattern is supplied in a dot pattern by printers hooked up to a computer to provide the desired pattern. Concerning instant claim 8, see Doshi, column 18, lines 55-57; HEMA is disclosed as a suitable lens material.

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Sankey discloses making an artificial eye by using a digital iris image.
